PREFACE

This is the next – and last – printed instalment of new material for RPC I-III, VII.1 and IX. As usual, to avoid making this printed Supplement too big, multiple new specimens of known types have not always been included.

This applies particularly to the ever-growing collections of CGT, ETB, A. Tricarico and J. Clark, and we owe their owners a special debt of gratitude from the way they continue to check, and often acquire, newly appearing coins, especially on eBay, and regularly sending in information about them.

As stated in the last Supplement, we now use Latin numerals only for volumes of RPC (thus I-X), and Arabic numerals for the Supplements (thus 1-4, and now 5), which also bear a date (e.g., Supplement 5, 2019). The Consolidated Supplement, which included all the material in Supplements 1-3, was not numbered, but was dated 2015. All new material can be found by consulting the Consolidated Supplement 2015, together with Supplement 4, and now this new Supplement 5.

The production of this Supplement is, as ever, the work of Pere Pau Ripollès (Universitat de València), and we are all very grateful to him for taking on this considerable task.

We are also grateful to the University of Oxford for hosting the Supplements and the previous Consolidated Supplement.

Future volumes will continue to be published both online (catalogue only) and on paper. For RPC IV The Antonine Period (AD 138–92), by C. Howgego (Oxford) and V. Heuchert (Oxford), we expect that two parts (Asia; and Alexandria) will be completed and ready for printing within a couple of years, at about the same time as RPC VI Elagabalus – Maximinus (AD 218–38) by D. Calomino (London). Nearly all parts the remaining volumes are also now under active preparation.

For a date list of all people involved, please see <http://rpc.ashmus.ox.ac.uk/project/>. Anyone with unusual material is invited to contact them at the email addresses given below.

In preparation for new volumes, much progress has recently been made digitally. In particular we are now starting to convert the old databases to a new ‘RPC App’ that will facilitate multiple inputting and, when published, allow instant updating. At the time of writing, the databases for III, IV.4 and VII.1 have been transferred to the RPC App, and work is well advanced in retro-converting I and II. When the RPC App is published, it will enable new additions to appear instantly online, and so thereafter there will be no role for any new printed Supplements.

In Supplement 4 (2017), we pointed out that a more precise numbering system was introduced for RPC VII.1, when it was converted into digital format: some coin-types have been subdivided into sub-types, hence the ‘decimal’ numbers (e.g. 123.1 or 123.2, and see also RPC III, p. xvii, where this system was used for the coinage of Alexandria in Egypt).

AFRICA

AFRICA PROCONSULARIS

J. Alexandropoulos, Les guerres d'Auguste et Tibère en Afrique: le témoignage des monnaies, in M. Caltelloni-Trannoy and Y. le Bohec ed., La guerre dans l'Afrique romaine sous le Haut-Empire (Paris, CTHS, 2014), 35-52, tries to demonstrate the link between the monetary production of Paterna (RPC 762-70), Hippo Regius (RPC 711-3) and Oea (RPC 832-5) and the war against Tacfarinas. In addition, he makes the hypothesis that the coinage of Paterna might be assigned to Ruspina.

CYRENAICA AND CRETE

Cyrenaica (III)

904-23, 938-45. See now F. Chevroliier, Les monnayages communs à la Crète et à la Cyrénaïque au I^{er} siècle avant J.-C. et la formation de la province romaine. Vers une histoire partagée?, in M. Asolati, ed., Le monete di Cirene e della Cirenaica nel Mediterraneo. Problemi e prospettive, Numismatica Patavina 13 (Padova, 2016), pp. 245-57.

C. Canovaro et al., Studio metallografico delle emissioni bronzee provinciali cirenaiche (I sec. a.c.-II sec. d.c.), in M. Asolati, ed., Le monete di Cirene e della Cirenaica nel Mediterraneo. Problemi e prospettive, Numismatica Patavina 13 (Padova, 2016), pp. 259-84, provide new metal analysis of RPC 904-5, Lepidius Pf., Lollius, Crassus, Pupius Rufus, Capito and Scato. All these bronzes are made of a mixture of copper (ranging from 71 to 92%), lead and tin.

Crete (III)

1037/3 = 5463/1; 4. P CM 2017.18 (ex Mowat = RN 1902, p. 202 and Pl. VI, 7), 11.46 (the beginning of the reverse legend is indeed ΤΙΒΕΠΙΟΣ).

ACHAEA

Melos

1297-9. E. Le Quéré, La drachme mélienne et le denier romain: quelques réflexions sur les “impériales grecques” de Mélos au lendemain de la réforme monétaire de Néron, in C. Doyen (ed.), Étalons monétaires et mesures pondérales entre la Grèce et l'Italie (Louvain-la-Neuve, 2017), pp. 263-63, dates this group of coins, with the mark III (= 3 assaria; in RPC I, p. 32: 3 obols whereas p. 264: 3 assaria), to the reigns of Nerva/Trajan, assuming: 1. that the coins of Nero with the mark III (RPC I, 1295) are suspicious and therefore the typological link between RPC I, 1295 and 1297 is not valid; 2. that the mean weight of the 2 Neronian coins (10.59) is too low for a 3 asses piece of that period, taking this argument for condemning the coins (pp. 246-7, n. 12). The dating of the Pankles coins in the reign of Nerva was not ruled out in RPC I, p. 264. In E. Le Quéré's opinion, the system prevailing in Melos at the beginning of the second century is the following:

RPC I , 1296	30 mm	4 assaria
RPC I , 1297-9	23-5 mm	3 assaria
RPC III , 404 (Nerva)	20-2 mm	2 assaria
RPC I , 1300	19 mm	1 assarion
RPC IV , 8405 (Athena/cornucopia)	17 mm	½ assarion

But the dating of RPC I, 1294 to the Flavian period (p. 259, n° 2-3) raises a problem, as this series, with the legend ΔPAXMH, has the same diameter and the same mean weight as RPC I, 1297, supposed to be a 3 assaria piece.

Thessalian League

R. Bouchon, L'ère d'Auguste: ébauche d'une histoire politique de la Thessalie sous Auguste, BCH 132 (2008), pp. 427-71, demonstrates with solid arguments that the 'Augustan era' used by Thessalians was not an Aktian one, but was adopted only in AD 10/11. Accordingly, the emission struck by Megalokles on which the Thessalians are styled ΣΕΒΑΣΤΗΟΙ (RPC I, 1428), should date from the very end of Augustus' reign, from AD 10/11 onwards. See also Id., Monnayage des Thessaliens sous Auguste: une évolution par-à-coups? in C. 2818C/2

2818C/3

2818A-B were given to the reign of Claudius by R. Martini (as noted in the CS, p. 124) on different grounds: 2818A has the same diameter as 2817-8 and its iconography is the same as 2818; 2818B, with the same name, Isotimos, is related to 2818A. On 2818B/2, the name of the magistrate is spelled as Isoteimos and the epsilon is lunate, which is characteristic of the Antonine series (but on the reverse, the epsilon of ΑΛΑΒΑΝΔΕΩΝ is normal). 2818C, a new series, is also given here as its iconography is similar to 2818, 2818A and 2821. But the epsilon of ΑΛΑΒΑΝΔΕΩΝ is lunate. So it is not clear how to date these coins.

KINGDOMS OF ASIA MINOR

F. Kovacs, Armenian Coinage in the Classical period, CNG Classical Numismatic Studies 10 (Lancaster and London, 2016), presents the ancient coins of Armenia, from Arsames, son of Samos (ca. 255- ca. 225 BC) through the reign of Tiridates II, to ca. AD 252. The author included all territories ruled by Armenian monarchs, or by any king or client king who ruled any territory called 'Armenia'. His catalogue is encountering for 304 entries. Most of the Armenian coins issued under Roman domination were published in RPC I, but no concordance to RPC was given.

We supply here this shortcoming:

Mélanges de numismatique et d'archéologie en mémoire de Marc Bar*, Travaux du Cercle d'Études Numismatiques 17, Bruxelles, 2017, pp. 103-18, lists 13 different countermarks which were applied on diassaria (?) of Antiochus IV and Iotape. Only one assarion (?) of Epiphanes and Callinicus is known with a countermark, whereas about 160 diassaria (?) known to the author were countermarked, a proportion of 30% of the total of known coins. Some of these countermarks are also found on the Antiochene coinage.

Berytus

4530corr. The date (L N = Year 50) on the obv. was omitted, though noted in CS. These coins are triple dated: year 50 of Berytus, 6 of Cleopatra in Phoenicia and 21 of Cleopatra in Egypt. The last two dates enable us to date the series to 32/31 BC. Assuming the same starting point for all eras, which seems a reasonable assumption, year 1 of Berytus is 81/80. It follows that the year 53 coins (RPC 4531-3) date to 29/28, not 28/27.

Tium

1193/5. This specimen was acquired by Paul Dresse de Lébioles and published in 1841–1966. Société royale de numismatique de Belgique. Exposition numismatique (Brussels, 1966), p. 48, no. 611 and Pl. III. The same collector had acquired in the thirties a certain number of coins of Antinous which he described pp. 47–9, nos 603–20. Among them were RPC 263/1 (no. 603) and RPC 3292/5–6 (no. 612). This piece was wrongly described under two headings, but it is the same coin: it belonged to the Vicomte de Sartiges, published first by [D. A. Longuet], Collection du Vicomte de Sartiges. Séries grecque et romaine, pl. XXX, 175 (Paris, 1910) and sold by Ars Classica XVIII, Catalogue de monnaies romaines contenant la célèbre collection d'un diplomate étranger depuis longtemps décédé [de Sartiges], 10 Oct. 1938, lot 230.

Confirmation required: attribution to Nicopolis is tentative. The date would 'fit' and a similar rev. with Nike occurs for Trajan (RPC 2942); 'Nike' = 'Nikopolis' (in part)? Year 56 would be AD 126/7. There seems to be no ethnic: perhaps because it is a small denomination?

3756–65. J. van Heesch, Les asses en orichalque d'Hadrien, in J.-M. Doyen et V. Geneviève, ed., Hekâtê triformis. Mélanges de numismatique et d'archéologie en mémoire de Marc Bar, Travaux du cercle d'Études Numismatiques 17, Bruxelles, 2017, pp. 421–32. J. van Heesch states that these coins might have been struck for Hadrian's decennalia in AD 127/8: « il n'est pas impensable qu'Hadrien ait pris la décision

d'«honorer» Antioche et sa région avec de belles monnaies symbolisant le lien avec l'Empire, mais également son respect pour le culte solaire d'Apollon » (pp. 428–9). As these coins are also found in quantities in the West (a list pp. 430–2), he suggests that they were reshipped immediately from East to West and that the asses circulated there as dupondii with an immediate profit for the users.

1. ETB coll., 12.54.

The date does seem to begin with Ε, even though one would expect Σ with year 4 of the second era. Confirmation required. If correctly read, it might show that the Hadrianic era began at a different time of year from the normal city era, or it might just be a mistake, as commonly happened at Gaza.

Gaza

Y. Fahri, Gaza coins as Flans for Bar Kokhba Overstrikes, INJ 19 (2015-6), pp. 56-62, lists the occurrences of coins of Gaza (mostly coins of Hadrian, year 3) and Ascalon which were used as flans for Bar Kokhba coinage.

The coin has the wrong obv. bust and inscription for year 5. It also has the same rev. die with a coin of Marcus Aurelius (D2046AA/1896/7, IA 452/816), a coin itself which seems a bit suspicious (info from C. Howgego). The fabric of the Hadrian coin looks (to judge from a photo) unconvincing. Both coins are probably modern forgeries.

ΔΗΜΑΡΧ ΕΞΟΥΧΙΑC ΥΠ[], [S C]; eagle standing on line, facing, head r., spreading wings, holding wreath in beak

1. M. Richter coll., 9.35. According to his owner, the coin appears to be made of debased silver, and therefore belongs to group 2. The obverse die-link with coins of group 3 might suggest that the two groups were actually produced at the same time.

1: same obv. die as 1904/1, 1907/1, 1909/1,
1912/1, 1921/1, 1924/1–4.
